Welcome to the SURREY HILLS

Dear Reader,

Welcome to the second edition of this special Guide to the Surrey Hills, showcasing the wide array of businesses, both large and small, that represent the very best of the Surrey Hills.

Last year's Guide was warmly received, proving that the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty is not only highly regarded for its beautiful landscapes but also for its wealth of incredible independent businesses. Those featured provide products, experiences and services of the highest standard, working in a sustainable way, with local providence central to everything they do.

Whether it's delicious regional food and drink producers, talented local artisans creating unique pieces, places to stay and celebrate in style, local experiences to discover and enjoy and much more, the Surrey Hills provides something for everybody. Along with information about amazing Surrey events, we hope this Guide to the Surrey Hills provides you with inspiration to find new regional businesses, discover ways to support local and explore more of our outstanding region.

Enjoy exploring the Surrey Hills,

NORBURY PARK FARM CHEESE

Discover the story of Norbury Blue, Dirty Vicar and Dorking Cock

Norbury Park Farm Cheese Co., established in 2002 in the heart of the Surrey Hills. Dairy farming at heart, Michaela and Neil Allam have been making cheese Norbury Blue, Dirty Vicar and now The Dorking Cock for 20 years starting on the family dairy farm in 2002. These entirely hand made cheeses are now made at their larger site at Silent Pool near Guildford GU59BW.

Norbury Blue a non offensive Blue creamy with a distinct blue flavour lingering on the pallet, Dirty Vicar a white moulded similar to Brie Camembert outer with a crumbly Caerphilly centre which also melts like a mozzarella, Dorking Cock a cheddar type cheese creamy semi hard texture with sweet nutty notes. All cheeses are Vegetarian and made from raw or pasteurised local cows milk.

SARAH COX LANDSCAPE PAINTER

Visit the studio of Sarah Cox | Landscape Painter

Sarah Cox creates paintings inspired by walking in the beautiful surrounding Surrey Hills countryside. Sarah's paintings are bursting with colour and texture and she likes to contrast elements of tight, structured paint work with loose, atmospheric washes and gestural marks. She responds intuitively to each of the landscapes that she walks in and seeks to capture the elemental nature and energy of a place rather than to record a literal interpretation. This adds both depth and textural variety to her outcomes

Surrey Hills Spring Festival

Taking place at the fascinating Rural Life Living Museum in Tilford, this weekend festival celebrates the start of spring and the heritage, culture and beauty of the Surrey Hills. Bringing together the region's best food, drink, art and crafts, this family-friendly event features hands-on activities and traditional country crafts alongside live music from Surrey singer-songwriters, spring seed planting, storytelling from Surrey children's authors, local food and drink, and stalls from Surrey Hills' artisans. Visit the museum's historic buildings, ride on the steam train and watch charcoal making and wood turning amongst many other exciting activities and demonstrations.

Surrey Hills Artisan Festival

A weekend festival celebrating the many artisans of the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), showcasing the very best of Surrey's food, drink, art and crafts, taking place in stunning open-air surroundings. With demonstrations by master craftspeople, delicious food and drink to sample and local produce available to purchase on the day and to take home, this will be an interactive event, providing the chance to learn more about the businesses and experiences available within the Surrey Hills. With countryside entertainment and activities for children and adults alike to try their hand at, there is something for all the family to enjoy at this fun-filled weekend festival.

Surrey Hills Wood Fair

Those looking to learn more about traditional wood crafts and enjoy an immersive day out in the woods, should visit to the Surrey Hills Wood Fair. Taking place in a Surrey woodland, the weekend event is a fun and educational day out for all the family, full of rural charm and embracing the beauty of wood in England's most wooded county. With woodland walks, tree planting and live music, the event will cover a whole host of countryside pursuits, including tree climbing, hedge making, axe throwing and bark painting. See woodland demonstrations from master craftspeople, smell the wood smoke, buy handmade products to take home and get involved in a host of wood-related games and activities under the canopy of the copse.

SQUIRES

GARDEN CENTRES

MODERN GARDEN CENTRES BUILD ON A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE

Squire's Garden Centres is an independent family-owned business, established in 1936, with sixteen garden centres across the South East, eleven of which are located in the Surrey Hills. Chairman Sarah Squire tells us a bit about the changes in gardening and garden centres.

HOW DID SQUIRE'S COME ABOUT?

My grandfather D.J. Squire (1905 – 2003) started our business. He was head gardener at the Police orphanage in Twickenham. When the orphanage closed in the mid-1930s he was made redundant. Unable to find alternative employment and with a young family to support he set up his own nursery and landscape gardening business.

My father Colin Squire developed the company into one of the first garden centre businesses in the UK when he opened Squire's in Twickenham in 1964.

HOW HAVE GARDEN CENTRES CHANGED?

The early garden centres were a far cry from today's businesses. They usually comprised converted greenhouses that were nowhere near the shopping environment customers expect today. From the 1980's, garden furniture and BBQs started to take off, and then cafes became an intrinsic part of the experience.

PROUD TO BE LOCAL

We aim to provide our local communities with superb quality plants and gardening products, as well as attractive ranges of garden furniture, BBQs and gifts. All our centres have a Café Bar which is a great place to meet friends and family.

HAVE PLANT TRENDS CHANGED OVER THE YEARS?

Plant trends come and go but many plants are as popular now as they have always been and for good reason – because they do well in the garden and are reliable. Roses, Clematis and Lavenders are perennially popular, and there's increased interest in 'grow your own' fruit and veg and large statement plants.

Planting for wildlife, quite rightly, keeps on growing in popularity. Our gardens have become such an important resource for native wildlife with the urbanisation of the last hundred years or more.

PROUD TO BE BRITISH

We are proud that 85% of our plants are sourced from UK nurseries, many very locally indeed - this supports local producers and means that customers can choose from the freshest possible stock, which hasn't travelled far from nursery to garden centre.

WHY GARDENING IS GREAT

Gardening gets you out in the fresh air, is good exercise, connects you with nature and gives you space to think and clear your mind. It is so therapeutic to nurture plants and see them grow. I defy anyone not to feel relaxed and let the cares of the day slide away in the garden.

With people now more aware of the environment around them, it is the perfect opportunity to make your garden, large or small, look its best. But it is not just about looks. It is a fact that gardening makes many people feel happier, healthier and more in tune with nature.
